You are looking for a forum in which you, as a manufacturer, supplier or user, can exchange ideas and establish networks through intensive discussions? More than 370 participants from 30 nations worldwide made use of this opportunity at the previous Symposium.

You, too, can be part of the Symposium, which has become an established fixture in the global wood-based materials industry! From October 14-16, 2026, the Fraunhofer WKI and the European Panel Federation (EPF) are organizing the renowned networking event for the 14th time in cooperation with the IVTH - International Association for Technical Issues Related to Wood and Hywax GmbH.

Register as a participant, apply as a speaker with a presentation on one of the main topics, or become a sponsor and additionally present your company at the exhibition which accompanies the conference!

Call for papers

We would like to invite you to submit an abstract for an oral presentation suitable to the above main topics via our conference website www.european-wood-based-panel-symposium.org. The deadline for submissions is February 27, 2026.

This is where our entire industry comes together and mixes with research. A wonderful opportunity to be inspired, and build reliable and trustful relationships.«

All sponsors will additionally be presented with their company logo on our website, at the welcome evening on roll-ups and table displays as well as in the conference documents. If you are interested in a sponsorship with participation in the exhibition accompanying the conference, you can request the relevant information directly. Please contact us via our conference website.
